

Alp Kucukelbir

Associate Adjunct Professor, Computer Science, Columbia University

Nationality

Canadian

Career History

Alp is a co-founder of Fero Labs (factory optimization software for industrial decarbonization), an adjunct professor at Columbia University (teaching a new class "ML & Climate"), and the entrepreneurship lead at Climate Change AI. He holds a PhD from Yale University, where his research won a best thesis award.

Areas of expertise

Machine learning, artificial intelligence, manufacturing.