

SHIMOGORI Kei

Position/Department/Division/Institution/Organization

Senior Researcher/Global Energy Group 1/Strategy Research Unit/The Institute of Energy Economics, Japan

Country

Japan

Career history

Kei Shimogori is a senior researcher at the Institute of Energy Economics, Japan (IEEJ). Her current research focuses on energy policy in European countries as well as nuclear energy policy in Japan and the world. While at IEEJ, Ms. Shimogori has focused on issues related to developing and maintaining nuclear energy in competitive markets and has written on electricity market reform and nuclear power in the United Kingdom. Ms. Shimogori has provided monthly analytical articles on European energy topics since April 2015. She has jointly written on decarbonization of ASEAN energy system up to 2060.

Ms. Shimogori received B.L. in International Law from Waseda University in 2010 and MPP in International public policy from Graduate School of Public Policy, the University of Tokyo in 2012.

Areas of expertise

Energy policy, nuclear energy policy